ABOUT PENNSYLVANIA'S LOW INCOME TAXPAYER CLINICS (LITCs)

REV-1905 (PO+) 03-25

The Pennsylvania Department of Revenue provides funding to Low Income Taxpayer Clinics (LITCs) to help them offer free legal aid on state tax matters. Staffed by attorneys, accountants, tax professionals and tax law students, these experts are here to help Pennsylvanians address various tax issues, including:

- Audits
- Appeals
- Collections
- Liens
- Innocent Spouse & Injured Spouse
- Litigation
- ID Theft & Preparer Fraud
- Worker Misclassification

University of Pittsburgh School of Law Legal Clinics

To ensure fairness and integrity in the tax system for low-income taxpayers, the LITCs aim to provide orderly, efficient, and effective representation of Pennsylvania taxpayer disputes. They work with the Pennsylvania Office of Taxpayers' Rights Advocate (OTRA) on state tax issues by:

- Providing pro bono representation in tax disputes
- Educating taxpayers about their rights and responsibilities
- Identifying and advocating for issues impacting these taxpayers

The Department of Revenue's support of the LITCs is part of the agency's efforts to help Pennsylvanians in need and lower costs for families.
